

NOT ENOUGH HOURS IN THE DAY

Most Usdaw members are juggling work with caring for someone. Juggling work and family life can be hard at the best of times ...

- Working too few hours or having hours that chop and change can put parents and carers under real pressure.
- Short hours working can leave workers without the money they need to get by.
- More and more workers, most of them women, are working on short hours contracts.

Usdaw wants the Government to give ALL workers the right to family and carer-friendly rights at work, from day one of their employment ...

Will you support our call for ALL workers to be given:

- Minimum 16 hours per week contracts (if that is what they want).
- Family and carer-friendly rights from day one of employment.

I support Usdaw's campaign to lobby the Government to give ALL workers the right to:

- Minimum 16 hours per week contracts (if that is what they want).
- Family and carer-friendly rights at work, from day one of employment.
